RESPECT	RESPONSIBILITY	KINDNESS
Respect yourself and others when you write or speak online.	Be on time to all distance learning classes.	Help others who might need assistance.
Wear appropriate clothing. Remember that everyone can see you.	Use school computer hardware and software appropriately for academic purposes only (projects, homework, class assignments, etc.).	If you would like to use a chat feature, remember that it is public, and a record of the chat may be saved.
Make respectful comments, showing respect for others and their views. If you would like to speak or answer a question, use the online class participation features.	Communicate in email, Zoom, and Google Classroom, as if a teacher or parent might read it.	Treat the virtual classroom just like the regular classroom.
Displaying or sharing material that is hate speech, sexually explicit, or violent will not be tolerated and consequences will be given.	Choose a distraction-free workspace with all your school materials ready to go.	Do not use technology to do anything harmful (e.g. sharing personal information about self or others, derogatory/inappropriate/obscene comments or bullying).
Bullying in any form, including cyber bullying, will not be tolerated and consequences will be given.	Have the computer camera on your face or have a picture of yourself. Use the mute feature when you're not speaking.	Support your classmates during class discussions and share-outs.
Notify an adult when any inappropriate behavior is discovered.	Use SLANT when on camera.	Do not use or share your account and/or password information.
	Stay focused on the academic activities presented in your distance learning classes.
	Use the chat feature to contribute to the class discussion and to show engagement.
	Keep your private information private. Do not share outside of GGUSD and Jordan.
